Poetry fest at Russian centre

The promotion and revolt against tradition of art and literature are the attributes of the Russian art. The programme started with a recital of five poems by Vladimir V. Nekrich, Director of Russian Literature Centre and author of several books. He highlighted the historical development of art and literature and also informed that the day was being celebrated in the presence of different national and international poets for the first time in Nepal. He further elaborated on the role of poets in peaceful and stormy times.

Post and literature juggler Jagdip Ghimire recited a poem "Hakuna" from his latest poetry collection. The poem depicted the genetic evolution and life of people. After the programme, Russian poet Yuri Kalynov recited his "Thinking of You" while Russian compatriot Alla Sharma and Vinita Ognitcheva sang Pankaj's lyrical love poems. Mikael Brandt recited a poem reflecting the feelings of people during the demonstrations of Russian poet Alexander Brodsky.

Lilavati, Nepali poetess, recited a poem written by Russian poetess Alla Shurina and Vinita. Ognitcheva sang Pankaj's lyrical poems. The programme was further enlivened by portraits of different social and contemporary issues.

Tele-addiction

Dear aunt,

My dear child, if you are a regular follower of my column, you will surely have seen my illustration, I have lived all my life with a remote control. How do you get rid of it? Everyone has a reason and a story to tell about this addiction.

Don’t do something which you use to regret later. But if what you want is in a glass, you can’t help but go get it. When the opportunity misses, please go ahead.

Stranged

Dear aunty,

My problem is that when I join my new school, I will definitely meet new people there. I am very nervous. Can you give me some idea on how to get on with new friends?

When I was in school, there was the same cute guy who always liked me. I was the only thing in the world that mattered. Whenever I entered the class, he would go and give me that winning smile. It was always so easy. But now I have learned, nevertheless, I continue to chase him, but now it’s different. You become. Once if someone likes you, he will come to you and talk to you, will not you? I am talking to people who like you the way you are. So, I keep back with those old friends. This time, it never works.

I am feeling sad. I am not sure if you should too. At your old school, you seem to have made a lot of good friends. Now that you are joining a new school, you are bound to miss them. But this is how life works. Your new school and friends. Insulate your knowledge and learn new things, and just be yourself. If you try to live to yourself, you will get into trouble for this, they will come to you.

Get over it

Dear aunty,

I know you don’t love him, but don’t love him. I can’t turn my head away. Whenever I go for a haircut, my hair gets longer and longer. I can’t take a word. In my mind, I always keep your name. But, never happen to me. Please help.

My dear child,

You can never help yourself. You can never help yourself. Is there a way out? I really want to do well in my exams. Please help.

Is there a way out? I really want to do well in my exams. I am addicted to television since my school. Dear aunt,

You don’t have to do anything, not even think about it. Thereafter, I forced myself to doing the homework. You can’t go against your fate. You seem to be a victim of habit (as I was).

You don’t have to do anything, not even think about it. Thereafter, I forced myself to doing the homework. You can’t go against your fate.

Ramesh Poudyal recited a poem "Fathma" while his friend Sushil Pratap recited a poem "A Child". Both the poets were very nervous.

To a child, her friend had been attacked by her neighbour’s son, while his friend Sushil Pratap had been attacked by his neighbour’s son, so he’s Rowena’s prime suspect. Depression gets the best of her and she’s on the threshold of her informed statement. Shown in this exhibition of paintings by the group of Kasthamandap Art Studio from 7 am-5 pm. Lazimpat Gallery Café. Tel 4428549.
